Fury as town council told to 'stop carping'

DEBRA FOX

HAVERHILL'S mayor and deputy mayor are furious after being told to "stop carping" by the leader of the borough council at a meeting on Monday.

Cllr Roger André said Cllr John Griffiths, leader of St Edmundsbury Borough Council, had "insulted Haverhill Town Council and the town's residents".

Cllr Griffiths was closing the debate on a petition signed by Haverhill residents, which was calling for Haverhill's share of Council Tax Support Grant to be restored.

Cllr André presented the petition, signed by more than 2,500 signatures, which asked for £128,000, which was set to be phased out over a four year period, to be restored to the town now.

Cllr Griffiths said that he had made Haverhill "a priority" since 2003 and denied that the money had been stolen from the town.

He detailed money spent, including investment in the Research Park, the Cineworld development and the leisure centre.

Money had been allocated to the High Street and Queen Street – and more than £400,000 is spent each year maintaining parks, he added.

Cllr Griffiths also said that the borough council needs to save an additional £1.5 million, while providing vital services, such as waste collection, for the whole of West Suffolk.

He said: "We are elected to serve Haverhill and West Suffolk. We need to work together to make our quality of life, and theirs, better in any way we can."

"There is so much more to do for the town of Haverhill, its great residents and visitors so please spend their money wisely; please stop carping and please think laterally."

Cllr Maureen Byrne, deputy mayor and borough council member, said the council leader had "damaged his professional reputation" with the "offensive" comment.

"For a person in his position to say that, it clearly demonstrates that residents of Haverhill should be thankful for whatever we have had in the past and may get in the future," she said.

Cllr Griffiths apologised for using the phrase – but added that people were "making too much out of just two words".

He said: "I am sorry people have taken two words out of my speech, trying to portray a different picture from all of the things I said before."

This year alone, the town council had to save an additional £32,000.

Speaking at the meeting, Cllr André said: "The Council Tax Support Grant was allocated via the borough council due to limitations of local authority financing protocols; the grant was intended for the town and reflected the impact of the change in tax base, created by a change in the rules."

"At the time the original decision was made, borough councillors were advised that the exact figures were not known as the grant from central Government was included in a block grant, and future cuts would reduce that block."

"That information has since proved incorrect."

A total of 26 councillors voted in favour of a motion put forward by Cllr David Ray, cabinet member for resources.

The motion proposed that the level of funding stays the same as planned, but that a review will take place next year, at the half way point in the original four year plan, when the borough has more information from central Government.

Only five councillors voted against the motion.

Cllr Ray said: "Every council, whatever its size, has to act in a similar

Olivia designs logo for town's first triathlon

READY TO RACE: Jamie Hall, of Stylize Display Graphics, Olivia Hannagan and Jack Tappin.

BROWNIES and guides from Haverhill and beyond have been busy designing logos for an upcoming event.

The town's first triathlon - HaverTri - is taking place in October and now the winning logo, drawn by Olivia Hannagan, has been chosen.

The Kedington Brownie's drawing will be refined by Stylize Display Graphics, before it is used on medals, posters and t-shirts.

Jack Tappin, race director, said: "Olivia's entry has really encapsulated a triathlon and will no doubt make a great logo for HaverTri."

"I look forward to seeing the refined logo and hope Olivia will be proud when she sees it adorning the medals hanging around triathletes' necks on October 5."

The event, which will be held at Haverhill Leisure Centre, is raising money for the Haverhill Scouts and Guides' hut fund.

If you want to take part visit entrycentral.com/havertri. Email haverhalf@gmail.com to volunteer.

Primary school in special measures

A HAVERHILL primary school has been put into special measures by Ofsted.

Coupsals Primary School, on Chalkstone Way, Haverhill, has been graded as inadequate, following an inspection in May of this year.

At its last inspection, which took place in November 2009, the school was rated as good.

Coupsals has been rated as inadequate, the lowest grading, across all categories - apart from the behaviour and safety of pupils, which was marked as requiring improvement.

The report's main findings show that pupils between Years 1 and 5 are not making enough progress, too much of the teaching is weak and staff have not received "sufficient training" to be effective in their roles. It said: "The local authority has taken an increasing interest in the school this year following the disappointing results in 2013."

"Since then, it has provided support and challenge to the school and given every assistance to the acting head-teacher and governing body.

"Unfortunately, this support was too late and ineffective as it did not arrest the school's decline into inadequacy."

Other main weaknesses highlighted in the report included marking not being specific enough to show pupils how to improve, pupils becoming easily distracted during lessons and all aspects of the National Curriculum not being taught.

The school's governors, hailed as "very supportive" in the report, have also not questioned the school and its leaders enough on performance, leading to an "optimistic" view being put forward, the report added.

David Maguire, acting head teacher, said improvements started in the school immediately after the inspection.

He said: "I strongly feel that we're already making positive headway and moving forward as a school."

"To ensure rapid improvement this will be a real team effort, involving full commitment from staff, pupils, parents and governors."

"We are proud of the strengths identified in our inspection report and will use these to help lead improvement in other areas. It is my top priority to ensure our pupils are receiving a good education, and I, alongside my staff will not rest until these improvements are made."

Strengths recognised in the report include the teaching in Reception and Year 6, pupils' conduct around the school and the safety of pupils.

The school was also praised for not tolerating discrimination and ensuring that Coupsals is a place where children are "valued and nurtured" and can develop emotionally.

Praise was also given to the wide range of enrichment activities on offer at Coupsals including clubs and class visits. Sports funding for the school is being spent on specialist coaches, the report said, training for staff and additional sports clubs.

The report also said that parents are "mainly positive" about the work of the school because their children are happy, and have "good conduct".

Benefit cheat mum in court

A MOTHER has pleaded guilty to cheating the benefit system out of more than £12,000.

Mandy Fair, of Alderton Close, Haverhill, appeared at Bury St Edmunds Magistrates' Court on Thursday.

Fair, 47, was charged with two counts of failing to declare changes in circumstance, with regards to Council Tax Benefit and Employment and Support Allowance.

She informed St Edmundsbury Borough Council in June 2011 that she and her husband had separated, and that she was in receipt of Employment and Support Allowance from the Department of Working Pensions.

But she failed to inform the authorities when her husband, who works for Transport London, moved back into the family home in February 2012.

Between that time and January this year, she was overpaid by £12,258, from both authorities.

Lauren Bond, prosecuting on behalf of the borough council, told the court that in the financial year 2012/2013, Fair's husband earned £67,330.

Of this, £31,694 was transferred to Fair's bank account.

Miss Bond said: "She was clearly using the benefit provision to support a lifestyle well beyond that of a regular benefit claimant."

When Fair was interviewed under caution, she admitted that she and her husband were living in the same home – but that he had only moved back there in November 2013.

She also said that she was "struggling financially – before later admitting she paid £390 a month for her 17-year-old daughter's horse, and had paid £3,000 towards a BMW with the Motability scheme.

Lyndon Davis, mitigating, told the court that Fair was released from work in 2011 due to health problems and now suffers with depression. She has also now spent £15,000 worth of debt.

He said: "She has got herself into a complete mess, and couldn't sort things out. She is very remorseful, perhaps belatedly, after trying to talk herself out of things."

Fair was sentenced to four weeks in prison, suspended for 12 months. She was also handed a 12 month community order, with the requirement that she will attend a seven session programme with the Women's Emotional Wellbeing Specified Activity, and ordered to pay £400 costs and £80 victim surcharge.

Cllr David Ray, cabinet member for resources and performance, said: "Deliberately withholding information that affects your claim is stealing."

"The vast majority of people who claim benefits are honest, but those who steal benefits are picking the pockets of law-abiding taxpayers and it is often part of organised crime."

Smiling Harry, 12, gets in the saddle at last

A SCHOOLBOY who suffers from cerebral palsy is celebrating after riding a horse for the first time.

Harry Tiplady, a pupil at Samuel Ward Academy, had his first ride last week, following months of pain after an operation earlier this year.

The 12-year-old, who had a procedure in February to lengthen his tendons, attended Three Counties Equestrian Stables in Little Wrattling on Friday.

Alex Shevchuk, teaching assistant, accompanied him.

She said: "It went really well – thank you to the riding club which donated the lessons to Harry for free."

Miss Shevchuk attends the stables herself. After asking Harry's physiotherapist about the suitability of horse riding, the lessons were arranged with instructor Corey Morris.

DEBRA FOX

The teaching assistant said: "[The therapist] said it would be great for him, and would help him learn how to walk and build his muscle strength."

After his operation, Harry, who lives on the Chalkstone Estate, was put into full leg casts for 10 weeks.

Now he wears leg splints and uses a wheelchair. He is currently having physiotherapy in school.

It is hoped that by September, the Year 8 pupil will be able to use a walking frame again following improvements to his mobility, and be back in the main school with his friends full time.

Julia Rondeau, teaching assistant, is the lead in Harry's care and said he is an "absolute joy" to work with.

"It was great for him to have a new experience in riding a horse," she said.

"He was a little bit wary at first because he has never done it before – but now he can't wait for the next session."

"Harry has got a fantastic sense of humour – because of his condition he has always had to deal with things differently."

"He is just so determined, and nothing gets him down."

A special loading ramp was also built at the stables in honour of Harry's visit, Miss Shevchuk added. It is hoped that further lessons will take place before the holidays.

The Big Collection raises £980 for charity

A THREE day collection at a local supermarket has raised £980 for charity.

The Big Collection weekend, for Diabetes UK, was held in Haverhill's Tesco Store, on Cangle Road, last month.

Chris Turk, Diabetes UK Team Leader, said: "I would particularly like to thank Haverhill Lions Club, Haverhill 41 Club and other members of the public who volunteered to be collectors, and the good people of Haverhill who put their hands in their pockets and gave generously."

The last Big Collection held for the charity in Haverhill took place in October last year. It raised £700.

Our GP service is unacceptable

I HAVE just read your article in the Haverhill Weekly News where you ask the question “Is our GP service at breaking point?” My own experience is that for the last ten-plus years it has been very difficult to see a GP and personally I have had to make several trips to A&E. As one of the people you quoted said, you have to plan when you are sick. Yes the doctors are overworked, it does not take a genius to see that with the continuing expansion of Haverhill, the essential services have not kept up. In February this year, I injured my back. Initially I used anti-inflammatories available over the counter. By March, it was obvious that this was not working and I would need to seek medical help. I then started on the process of trying to get that help. This included trying to get appointments only to have the standard approach of ‘a doctor will ring you and he will decide what needs to happen’. Eventually, I got fed up waiting and drove to the surgery where I asked for an emergency appointment. At this point I was in total agony. I got to see a doctor. He put me on painkillers and anti inflammatories and told me to come back if there was no improvement. After five days it was obvious there was no improvement so I tried to get an appointment in an emergency. No luck there, just the usual phone call telling me to take the painkillers and see a physio. I took the advantage of booking an appointment with another doctor but it was four weeks later which was then cancelled. Doctors can get sick too, fair enough. I book another appointment, four weeks later again and in between tried to get several emergency appointments all terminating in a phone call telling me to keep taking the painkillers and see a physio. At this point I had been seeing a physio and the pain was so bad that the physio told me that until it was under control she could do nothing. Thankfully her management wrote to my doctor, and I got an appointment on the 2nd June. By that time I was virtually a cripple, unable to move. Thankfully when that doctor had seen me and read the letter I got treatment and have been off work for one month with an MRI scan due this week. Prior to that I had to use up my holiday to survive until I got treatment. How can this be acceptable? To go from March until the beginning of June without proper treatment is not good. I live alone, I have no children and my extended family are not in a position to look after me, they live too far away. What I have since found out from a friend is that he had the same problem two years ago. He went private and saw a consultant and had an MRI scan in four days. It cost him £400 and he got the treatment he needed quickly. As a higher rate taxpayer with no dependents and who isn’t sick very often, whose money is going into funding such an abysmal service, it is fairly reasonable to say that this is disappointing. With continued growth of

Thank you for your wonderful care

MAY I take this opportunity to express my extreme thanks and gratitude for the wonderful care my husband has received during his three years as resident at The Swallows Residential Care Home in Helions Bumpstead Road. I regret to say he passed away recently, but during his stay there Donna, Stan, Harold and all those lovely “carers” all contributed to him having three very happy years and I will be forever in their debt. We hear so many horror stories about care and nursing homes but these girls are amazing in the care they give to their residents.

You are not fooling any of us, Cllr Griffiths

CLLR Griffiths, the Leader of St Edmundsbury Borough Council, has chosen to use newspaper letters pages in a knee jerk reaction to a public petition from Haverhill. How strange that his appreciation of the democratic process should lead him to rush into print in anticipation of proper consideration of the matter by borough councillors. Perhaps not so strange when the letter is recognised as a sleight of hand to divert attention from the substantive issue with patronising bunkum that has no relevance to the matter. His continuing misrepresentation of the figures reveals a training gap that could be filled by any of our outstanding maths teachers in Haverhill schools – a cut of £32,233 for 2014/15 and a further additional cut of £32,233 for 2015/16 totals £96,699 over the two years. The issue under consideration is the Borough Council decision to withhold funds, allocated by the Department for Communities and Local Government, intended to support Town and Parish Councils. At the time of the original decision Cabinet members for St Edmundsbury Borough Council gave misleading information to borough councillors – subsequently those cabinet members were provided with evidence of the inaccuracy of their advice and with clear guidance from the Department for Communities and Local Government that the funds should be passed on. It would seem that Cllr Griffiths has spent so long defending a clearly indefensible decision that he has come to believe his own spin.

Cllr Roger JF André
Haverhill Town Mayor

Look what we’ve done for the town already

I AM grateful for the opportunity to write again following the debate about Haverhill at full Council. I was keen to focus on the town and its people rather than just the town council and proud to stand by the borough council’s track record and continuing investment in Haverhill which has in no small part made it a very different place today than it was 10 years ago. Our investment in the town is channelled in many different ways, not simply by giving money to Haverhill Town Council. We work with the private sector on a variety of projects; with voluntary groups on funding and improving services; directly with local communities on open spaces; with business organisations on the local economy; with housing providers, the county council, our MP and ministers – and – most recently – with a range of other partners through ONE Haverhill. We are also working with the Haverhill Research Park, investing £750,000 to secure 2,000 new jobs and on the exciting prospect of the Epicentre innovation hub. We have already extended the town centre with a £9.25m cinema and restaurants, £5m refit of the leisure centre, £2m in Queen Street, Jubilee Walk and Cleales car park, and committed a further £750,000 for the High Street. As well as the £400,000 a year the borough council spends on maintaining parks, we have created three new Jubilee open spaces, and spent £2m breathing life into the Haverhill Community Football Project. We spend £120,000 each year on day-to-day running of the leisure centre, plus capital investment. But investment is not just about cash, it’s also about expertise and time. We work closely with those who have the big money to unlock major projects for the town, and hopefully for improvements to the A1307. By directly investing, influencing and priming inward investment we have expanded and improved the town centre; protected and increased green spaces and provided employment opportunities. This is what good councils at district (and county) level should do, alongside providing the many services that our residents in Haverhill quite rightly expect. We also recognise that we cannot do everything alone and are good partners, working with many others for the benefit of Suffolk’s fourth largest town. We would welcome anyone who can help improve things further for Haverhill to join us in doing so.

Cllr John Griffiths
Leader, St Edmundsbury Borough Council

We’ll continue the fight for our town

I WISH to personally thank those of you who signed the petition, supporting Our town of Haverhill to have their grant funding returned. The Mayor presented in excess of 2,500 names collated, and made representation on our town’s behalf. I endorsed his submissions and addressed the council on your behalf. The Leader of the council Councillor John Griffiths in his response, said we should stop “carping on”, besides some other unpleasant suggestions that we are never satisfied. “Carping on” means moaning, and more moaning, well I have news for him. I will continue to carp on when representing residents of our town. I’m happy to be nick-named she who “carps on” all the time. What an offensive thing to imply, when he and the Cabinet members deliberately phased out our grant funding, which the Government, clearly states the money for 2014/15 should be available for town and parish councils. Nothing in any government document suggesting phasing out should be a consideration. He has clearly demonstrated that we should be grateful for anything and everything they do for us. He desperately tried all the tricks in the book, to justify their decision. We are not fools and his tactics will not deter our determination to continue to campaign for justice. I was not allowed the right of reply to the Leader’s outbursts, but, believe me, I will respond in writing on your behalf. However, we need to recall our petition was not about anything other than the grant funding. Sadly, Conservative councillors in the main voted and supported their Leader and did not support the petition, despite many signing it. Maybe, fear of losing their seats. The Town Council – all political groups – supported the petition, the town have done us proud. A big thank you to Diana Andre and others who spent hours seeking your views and signatures. Please be assured of my continued support.
Cllr Maureen Byrne
Deputy Mayor

Pupils on stage with Buggy Malone

STUDENTS are getting ready to put their stamp on a glamorous tale of gangs and showgirls.

Castle Manor Academy will stage their production of Buggy Malone at the school next month.

Kane Robson, a Year 10 student, will take on the role of Buggy with Year 13s Abbie Brown and Charlotte Allin becoming Blousey Brown and Tallulah.

Fat Sam will be played by Charlie Moody and Dandy Dan by Will Bailey.

Pupils from both Castle Manor and Place Farm Primary Academy will complete the cast as a range of gang members, showgirls and hoodlums. Tickets cost £5 and £4 for concessions and are available through calling the school on 01440 705501.

Two further performances of Buggy Malone are taking place at Haverhill Arts Centre on July 21 and 22.

To get tickets for those, contact 01440 714140 or visit haverhillartscentre.co.uk

ON PATROL: Children from Westfield Primary School carrying out speed watch on Wrattling Road. Right: Talking to a driver

'What would you have done if you'd hit me?'

IRRESPONSIBLE drivers were punished for speeding through Haverhill – by some of the town's school-children.

A team of pupils from Westfield Primary School joined officers from the Safer Neighbourhood Team (SNT) to carry out a speed watch in Wrattling Road, which has a 30mph speed limit.

Six cars were stopped for speeding – and five of the motorists were given the option to speak to the children, receive three points, or go on an awareness course.

PCSO Mark Isaac said: "Unsurprisingly they all chose to speak with the children. Those five then had to answer tough questions such as, 'what would you have done if you had hit me?' and 'why are you speeding and putting our lives at risk?'"

This is the second speed watch exercise the police have carried out this year on Wrattling Road. The first took place with pupils from Couplands Primary School in March.

The children also designed road safety posters to distribute, and the SNT are hoping to find funding to get them made into road signs.

PCSO Isaac added: "The message delivered by the children is arguably better, with a more lasting impact than issuing points.

"All officers involved saw that speaking with the children really had a significant effect on the drivers."

Gerry's photographs to be exhibited

EXHIBITION: Gerry Weatherhead with some of his photographs

A PHOTOGRAPHY exhibition is running at Haverhill Arts Centre this month.

Local man Gerry Weatherhead is holding a display of more than 20 landscape pictures and natural light portraits until July 31.

The exhibition is free to enter, and the majority of the prints are for sale.

Mr Weatherhead, of Haverhill, took his first picture when he was just 8.

His father, brother and uncle also took photographs. He said: "Whatever you are doing, you have got to have a passion for it.

"Without passion, you won't get the best results."

For more information about Gerry and his work, visit his website creativeeye.me.uk

Work under way on new homes

DEBRA FOX

DEMOLITION has begun on the site of an old snooker and bowls club in Haverhill.

The site will soon become the location for 21 new affordable homes, built by Havebury Housing Partnership.

More than £3 million has been invested in the scheme, on Chalkstone Way.

Seventy eight people will be able to be housed there, across 14 flats and seven houses.

There will be 13 two-bedroomed flats, one one-bedroomed flat, six three-bedroomed houses and one four-bedroomed house.

Cllr Anne Gower, St Edmundsbury Borough Council cabinet member for housing, said: "There is a need for more affordable housing across the whole of West Suffolk and therefore we are keen to support the creation of new homes, which will enable strong, robust communities."

Latest figures from the borough council show that there are 360 applicants on the their housing register who wish to live in Haverhill.

Having affordable homes will be the key to the town's success in the future, Cllr Gower added.

"Haverhill is a growing town, and we need to provide all types of accommodation to support our economic and community development," she said.

Scott Bailey, head of development at Havebury, said the charity will ensure that the character of the new homes will fit in with the existing ones nearby.

He said: "There is great demand for affordable housing in this area and the statistics from the council support this.

"Great effort will be made to ensure the new homes will be in keeping with the surrounding area and this will be enhanced by landscaping."

Could you be a community ambassador?

A DROP in event to look for more community ambassadors is taking place this month.

The Haverhill group is holding a session on July 11, and hopes to recruit more volunteers into the scheme.

The scheme was launched in February this year, following the consultation over Haverhill's community budget.

Members of the public who took part in the consultation told the board that they wanted to be able to do more to maintain their community.

The community ambassador scheme means participants can carry out minor repairs in the town, and also report problems with the streets that need resolved.

A successful litter pick was carried out by the group in June – and more people are wanted to help the scheme move forward.

The event is on July 11 at Haverhill House, Lower Downs Slade, from 1.30pm until 3pm.

RECOVERY: Daisy, after her operation.

Shot cat Daisy has now had a kidney removed

DEBRA FOX

A YOUNG cat, which was shot in the leg with an air rifle, has had to have a kidney removed.

Daisy, a one-year-old tortoiseshell was shot on June 16 after being let outside by her owners, who live in Raine Avenue, Haverhill.

As previously reported, the animal was rushed to the vet and X-rayed, where it was discovered she had been shot at close range, possibly through a window, and that a pellet was lodged in her body.

Now her owners owe more than £1,000 in vet bills after Daisy's injury resulted in her having to have a laparoscopy and an operation to remove her kidney.

Daisy's owners, who did not want to be named, are a couple in their 20s.

The man said: "We're disgusted someone would do this and they obviously had no regard for not only the damage it caused Daisy, but the stress it caused us, as her owners."

"We don't want this person to go unpunished, but chances are they will. Then they'll probably do it again, and get away with it again."

INJURY: Daisy's wound after being shot in the leg.

The couple are now looking to change the fencing around their garden so Daisy and Pixie, the couple's other cat, can stay safe while outside.

Since the incident, both cats have remained indoors – but are starting to get impatient with being stuck inside.

Daisy returned home only about 15 minutes after being let outside on the night she was shot, making her owners think the culprit lives nearby.

The man said: "I would like to think we are good neighbours, we keep ourselves to ourselves.

"There are a lot of people with cats here, and we want to make sure it doesn't happen to someone else."

The man also thanked Swayne and Partners in Haverhill for allowing the couple to set up a payment plan to pay off their £1,300 bill.

He added: "They were good enough to do this for us – what happened was out of our control."

HEALTHY: Karen Davies and Heather Osborn from Live Well Suffolk.

Live Well Suffolk supports call for water

A BID to replace sugary soft drinks with water at mealtimes has been backed by Live Well Suffolk.

The organisation has supported the switch in a move to tackle childhood obesity.

Karen Davies, dietitian, said: "With our current 'Where's the Sugar Monster' campaign, we have been asking people to try and reduce the amount of sugar in their diet and helping them to understand the impact too much sugar can have on their health. It can lead to serious conditions such as type 2 diabetes and heart disease."

Encouraging children to drink water will also eliminate unnecessary calories, Karen added.

The advice has come from scientists at Oxford University as Public Health England announces a nationwide plan to cut sugar consumption.

Heroes unite to help out the hospice

SUPERHEROES took some time off from saving the world to support a hospice charity.

The heroes, including Wonder Woman and Batgirl – otherwise known as Rowland Cole and Richard Brown from Haverhill – met in Nowton Park on Sunday to take part in a fundraising walk.

The superwomen were joined by Superman, Batman, Zorro, Captain America and Flash Gordon on their quest, which raised a staggering £2,000 for St Nicholas Hospice Care.

An outreach centre for the charity has recently opened in Haverhill, and St Nicholas provides support across West Suffolk for patients with life-shortening illnesses, and their families.

Jenny Baskett, hospice events and challenges fundraiser, said: "It was a very wet afternoon, so I'd like to give credit to our marvellous hospice superheroes for not letting it deter them."

After battling the elements, the fundraisers were greeted at the finish line with pies and pints, donated respectively by Country Pies, and Greene King.

For more information about the hospice, contact stnicholas-hospicecare.org.uk. Visit the outreach centre in Haverhill, on Camps Road.

Time for the £50 challenge!

FUNDRAISING: Abby Mayes, Paul Whittaker and Lizzie Cross.

THE annual Accumulator Challenge in aid of St Nicholas Hospice Care has begun.

Businesses from across West Suffolk, including Sanofi, Samuel Ward Academy and CXG Property Services from Haverhill, gathered in Bury St Edmunds last week to receive their crisp £50 notes, which they now need to turn into as much money as possible.

For the fifth year, the businesses will be battling it out for three months to see who can make the most money and be crowned the overall winners.

Paul Whittaker, of Towergate Insurance who donate the £50 notes, said:

"It's great to see so many people – we are off to a really good start."

"When the challenge was set up we did it to raise some money and to ensure people have fun – and that is the key to this event."

"So here we go again, for the fifth challenge."

Lisa wins £100 with her 'Buy Local' review

DEBRA FOX

A WOMAN who submitted a business review for a Haverhill restaurant, has won a £100 cash prize.

Lisa Payne, from Kedington, completed a review card for the Raj Mahal Indian restaurant, in Haverhill, during a recent Buy Local campaign in the town.

Her review was entered into a prize draw to win £100 to spend with a local business.

Lisa, who gave the restaurant five stars, has chosen to spend her prize with Kedington Butchers.

She said: "I particularly enjoy going to the Raj Mahal with a group of friends for the Tuesday night specials, they are such excellent value for money."

"I find the service is always really nice from the waiters – I never win anything so I'm delighted to have picked up the prize."

"I am going to spend the money with Kedington Butchers and stock up my freezer with some of their lovely meat."

Lisa's review was chosen in a prize draw, which took place every day in a week-long campaign carried out by thebestof nationally.

People across the town were encouraged to spend their money in local shops and promote the benefits of businesses in Haverhill.

Since 2013, the Raj Mahal has received more than 400 reviews praising the restaurant's food and service. They were also voted as the third most loved business in Haverhill, following this year's Local and Loved campaign.

Elaine Carr, owner of thebestof Haverhill, said: "It is good to see local people being rewarded for supporting our local economy."

"I think it is also great that Lisa has chosen to spend her money with Kedington Butchers. They are a true local business."

MP welcomes town's funding review

THE decision to review funding to towns and parishes across St Edmundsbury has been welcomed by the region's MP.

In 2013, St Edmundsbury Borough Council and Forest Heath District Council set out a four-year plan to reduce the amount of Council Tax Support Grant going to all local towns and parishes. But now they have ruled to review the financial situation after two years of reductions. They will review the amount of grant they will pass on for 2016/17 and beyond.

Mr Hancock arranged for West Suffolk's councils to meet with Brandon Lewis, local government minister, to clarify the current position.

Following this meeting, the councils decided to carry out the review.

Mr Hancock said: "I am delighted by this breakthrough for local people."

"I have followed the issue of council tax closely, doing everything I can to help local families with the cost of living."

"This subsequent review of the Council Tax Support Grant is good news for West Suffolk, good news for Haverhill, and good news for council taxpayers."

The Woolpack has it all

HUSBAND and wife team Adrian and Tracy Collingwood are coming up to their first anniversary at popular Haverhill pub The Woolpack.

The couple, who took over the Woolpack's reins in August 2013, have very much enjoyed welcoming customers to the pub during their first year in charge. And the feeling has been mutual.

The Woolpack has a long list of entertainments and amenities that have kept the punters flocking in. Not only does the pub offer superb homemade lunches six days a week (from Monday to Saturday), using only the best of local produce, but they are also available at an excellent price.

And they don't stop at lunch. "The best breakfast in town" is also served at The Woolpack from 11am on Friday and Saturday mornings. Get your day off to a great start with the most important meal of the day, at a bargain £4.95 for the full works, including tea, coffee, toast and delicious local Kedington sausages.

They are also launching an international cuisine night, every Wednesday, with a selection of exotic dishes planned, and are also planning a Free Food evening, coming soon.

Every weekend, you can get your dancing shoes on at The Woolpack, with their regular resident and guest DJs, special "indie disco" and many great live bands each Friday and Saturday night – all from their state-of-the-art sound system. And if you think you've got "The Voice", why not have a go at one of the fortnightly Open Mic evenings on Thursdays: the next one is tonight!

Other regular evenings include a poker night each Monday, and quizzes on Sundays, with popular local host Lewis Jones, himself a star of several TV quiz shows. Or if sport is your thing, you will also be well looked after at The Woolpack. With a new pool table on its way, they are also brilliantly set up for sports spectators, with three large projector screens that will show all major sporting events, with Sky, BT Sport and now also At The Races and Race UK for horseracing fans.

There's even a screen out in the courtyard!

If you are throwing a party, the pub has a handy and spacious booth area that will fit the bill for your hen, stag or birthday celebrations. Just telephone the friendly landlord and landlady to enquire. The Woolpack also welcomes bookings for wakes.

So whatever your tastes, and whatever you are looking for from your night out, The Woolpack has it all! Visit the pub at 50 Queens Street, Haverhill, CB9 9EF, telephone them on (01440) 707105, or find them on facebook at /WoolpackHaverhill.

the GUIDE

Katherine Jenkins

■ Katherine Jenkins, Forest Live, Highbury Lodge, Thetford Forest, Saturday, July 12, arena opens at 6pm. Tickets £39.60 including booking fee from 03000 680400 / forestry.gov.uk

IT'S always the pretty, talented women who get the trolls, the hate, and all the online bile.

Cheryl Cole, Jennifer Aniston, Rihanna, Miley, Lana. . . their clothes, relationships and careers ripped into on a daily basis, shredded by scathing tweets, spiteful editorials and plastered all over the deliberately humiliating sidebar of shame.

And it's become normal. So normal I'm expecting the Daily Mail disciple, publicity junky and bonafide diva version of Katherine Jenkins to answer the phone, because in a Google snapshot, that's what she's made out to be, not the sweetness and light version who takes the call.

To be fair, getting to speak to her was a slight struggle: several cancellations, one bitter, sacked PR company and a phone connection that kept dissolving. Once we'd got through that though, the Welsh classical crossover singer was polite, kind, succinct and private, without being peevish or cold. It was almost disappointing; a demanding, unfriendly interviewee can be a joy to write.

Right now the 33-year-old lass from Neath, whose soft Welsh murmur is borderline hypnotic, is preparing for a concert alongside the National Symphony Orchestra and special guest Celeste as part of the Forestry Commission's Forest Live series ("It's an amazing setting," she bubbles. "I'm very, very delighted that I've been invited back.") It's just another moment to add to a year that's proving, so far, to be giddily hectic.

In January, Jenkins re-joined Decca Records, the label that first discovered her a decade ago while she was a 20-something singing teacher, and went on to produce six of her albums. The move comes after a lucrative but fairly miserable stint with Warner Bros, who wanted to capitalise on her poppier elements and drag her into the mainstream slush. It didn't work.

It makes you wonder whether she wished she'd returned to Decca sooner. "I think sometimes you have to go away to try other things to realise what you want and what you enjoy most and the things that matter," she admits.

"[Decca] totally understand classical music," she adds. "I'm certainly having a fantastic time; I've nearly finished the album. I don't want to change things because they're working. I'm in a really happy place."

The album, her 10th, is set for release in November, but Jenkins will perform the odd track throughout the summer if you can't wait.

Between the label switch and the new album she also got engaged to New York artist, actor and director Andrew Levitas in April (she split from former fiancé, TV presenter Gethin Jones, in 2011). Have they started planning the big day? "There's a lot going on and we haven't been engaged for too long yet, so we're working on it but no set plans yet. . ."

And she's just become an aunty for the first time too, to her sister's two-week-old son Rhys: "I know! It's been a wonderful year in terms of the album, Decca, the OBE, and the wedding and then the baby!"

Has it made her broody? "I've always wanted children because I have a big, close family. It couldn't make me want children more because that's always been a priority. It makes me happy to see a family growing."

On top of endlessly flitting across the globe on tour ("You're not excited by airports anymore, but I like getting there and singing"), from the outside one of the most challenging aspect of being a mezzo-soprano star seems to be the constant paparazzi attention. Type "Katherine Jenkins" into any search engine and pages and pages spit out images of her in stories that can be summed up as "Welsh singer wears clothes" – the latest instance being a dapper trip to Ascot in a blue number with a metallic belt.

"It's just strange because I'm not sure anybody would get used to that," Jenkins muses, explaining how she tries to deal with the arbitrary attention and flashing lenses. "I try to live a normal everyday life behind the scenes. When people are so interested in what's going on in your personal life, of course it's weird. I'm not sure I'll ever be used to it, but I think every job has parts to it that maybe you'd prefer didn't happen."

"The good parts of my job are amazing and I would never want to change that so you just deal with it."

Find 1000s of cars locally

The future is electric

MARSHALL Nissan Cambridge motorists are being offered a free 24-hour test drive of the trailblazing 100 per cent electric Nissan LEAF.

Nissan Cambridge in Cambridgeshire wants local drivers to experience first-hand just how easily they could make the switch to the world's bestselling car and start enjoying motoring costs as low as two pence per mile.

And it believes just one day of living with the LEAF will be enough to convince the majority of test drivers the multi-award-winning British-built model is more than a match for their everyday driving needs and can cope effortlessly with the demands of even the most hectic lifestyle.

Before driving away in the model – a spacious and practical hatchback – test drivers will be shown how to make the most of the state-of-the-art model's features and creature comforts that can include everything from leather seats and a high end BOSE stereo system and a seven inch colour screen incorporating sat-nav and crystal clear parking cameras. They will also be shown how easy it is to charge the LEAF, which is priced from £16,490 and is totally exempt from road tax (VED) and the London Congestion Charge. This can be done at home, using a standard domestic socket or a dedicated charging station that can be fitted free of charge.

Meanwhile, a massive nationwide network of rapid chargers, located at motorway service stations and other convenient locations, can charge the LEAF from nought to 80 per cent in 30 minutes.

The test drives will also provide reassurance over range. The LEAF can cover up to 124 miles on a single charge – more than enough to handle the average daily commute without so much as a second thought.

But it's not just individual motorists who could benefit from the LEAF. Company car drivers and fleet operators could also stand to gain. The LEAF is zero BiK (Benefit in Kind) rated – a crucial tax consideration for company car drivers – until 2015, after which it will be in the lowest band.

James Jones, general manager at Marshall Nissan Cambridge, said: "The LEAF is an absolute phenomenon. In a short space of time it's sold more than 120,000 worldwide and 4,300 here in the UK."

"That's more than 120,000 owners worldwide who are already enjoying ultra-low running costs and many other benefits associated with the LEAF."

"Incredibly, the LEAF has one of the highest 'recommend rates' of any car. An amazing 95 percent of owners would recommend the car to a friend and, for me, that says it all."

Mr Jones added: "Despite its massive success though, many people don't realise how easy it is to own a LEAF. They think it must take some change in habit and behaviour but, in reality, for most people, the only difference is they'll never need to visit a filling station again."

"I'd recommend that anyone who's in the market for a new car, no matter what kind of car that may be, takes advantage of our test drive offer so they can see for themselves just how much of a practical reality the LEAF is."

For details or to book your 24-hour test drive, call Marshall Nissan on 01223 377300 or visit the Marshall Nissan showroom.

Based near Haverhill
Interesting, independent role in a friendly team

PBD delivers work based early years qualifications all over England. We support mainly adult students with online resources and webinars as well as some face to face contact.

We have just been given funding to employ a teacher to support students to achieve GCSE maths if they don't already have it. Although the terms of the funding require us to appoint a graduate, preferably in a highly numerate subject, success in the post will not depend on higher level mathematical skills. Nor is a teaching qualification necessary.

The most important attributes are patience, IT literacy and some innovative teaching ideas. Some work can be done from home but you will be based in our office near Haverhill. The ability to assist with a similar role aimed at English GCSE will be a distinct advantage.

New players flock to Haverhill Tennis Club

MORE than 70 adults and children attended Haverhill Tennis Club's Great British Tennis Weekend, part of the Lawn Tennis Association's initiative to get more people playing the sport.

Those who turned out enjoyed adult coaching, mini tennis, family time on court and cardio tennis.

The event proved to be a big success, with new members joining the club. The event also raised £60 for the My Blue Heart charity.

■ Haverhill Ladies enjoyed another good win in the Norfolk & Suffolk League, Division Two when they beat Red Lodge at home.

Captain Marcia Armstrong and partner Sarah Lee won all their sets and despite being down 4-2 in the final set they contested, they pulled through with a 7-5 victory.

The other pairing of Sharon Mattheus and Shannon Tobin, the latter playing with a leg injury sustained in a match the day before, halved both of their sets 2-6, 6-4 and 6-3, 3-6.

Dellar, Youngs seal triumph

ADAM Dellar and Luke Youngs produced the goods with the bat as Haverhill earned a seven-wicket victory at Hadleigh in Marshall Hatchcock Two Counties Championship, Division One.

The visitors were forced to field for much of Hadleigh's innings with only 10 players following a bad nose injury to Kyle Blanchard after he was struck by the ball.

But with Ben Wilkins taking 3 for 41, the hosts were sent packing for 161.

In reply, Dellar (69) and Youngs (57 not out) compiled 108 for the third wicket as Haverhill eased to 162 for 3.

Haverhill captain Joe Woodley said: "It was a really good team performance and everyone chipped in somewhere when we were bowling and fielding, which was really positive."

"We were 35 for 2 in our innings and the game could have gone either way, but Adam and Luke batted really well and got us home before the rain came."

Haverhill, who are back in action at Worlington on Saturday, moved three points behind Hadleigh as a result, but remain third from bottom.

Blackjacks in huge victory

HAVERHILL Blackjacks maintained their perfect start to the British Baseball Federation, A League South campaign with a 17-7 victory at Essex Redbacks II.

Blackjacks scorched into a 7-0 lead in the first two innings with Steven Fuentes claiming five strikeouts to keep Essex quiet early on.

At the end of the fourth, Haverhill led 8-3 with both sides adding two runs apiece in the fifth.

But the visitors took the game by the scruff of the neck in the sixth with seven runs, Blake Broekhoven and Rob Wood both plating their third runs of the game and 14-year-old Liam World recording an RBI before scoring a run.

Dylan Shephard also blasted a two RBI double to centre field before adding his third run.

Redbacks clawed back two runs, but Steven Phillips closed out the game for Haverhill with some outstanding pitching, sitting the hosts' top three batters down.

The end came when a toss by Fuentes was picked up by Carlos Bolivar, who cannoned the ball to Alan Symons at first base to thwart Essex's hopes.

Blackjacks return to action away to Essex Archers on Sunday.
